

LEx Retreat Leader Job Description

LEx Retreat Leaders are representatives of Rutgers University, Camp UKnight, the Discovery Program, and the student leadership experience.

There is not a specific parameter for what a good LEx Leader might be. The best LEx Leaders our retreats understand their own worldview, are accepting of the differences in others, are exceptional team players, care for the well being of others, and approach all retreat experiences with energy and passion.

LEx Retreat Leaders are expected to be enthusiastic, developmental, attentive, and engaged in the experiences of the participants attending each session. During two separate weekend retreats at the Camp UKnight in Pocono, PA, and at the Discovery Program on campus, each LEx Leader will be responsible for a small group of participants during the programs and for the general facilitation of both small and large group experiences. Previous experience at our retreats would be beneficial but not required to be selected.

For this summer, retreat leaders will be expected to be available for training and both retreat sessions from August 3 - August 27. Camp UKight sessions one and two will take place August 7-9 and August 14-16. Discovery Program will take place from August 24-26 (dates subject to change). Training will take place before both programs. Leaders will be housed in on and/or off-campus for the duration of both programs.

Are you ready to take your next step as a leader? Are you hoping to have an impact on over 200 incoming students, welcoming them to the Rutgers Leaders community while preparing them for their transition into college life? You can help to create life changing experiences for someone this summer.
